HISTORY of Kobe Geihinkan

Kobe Geihinkan was built in 1918 for Ruizo Nishio, A Japanese trader who was working in the former foreigners quarter. Suma used to be a famous area of villas at that time, and he decided to construct his own villa to invite guests and clients from all over the world.

The building itself was designed with a unique style which is a mixture of Japanese architecture, Wiener Secession and Art Nouveau.

On 19th March 2010, the old building was registered as one of the important cultural properties in Hyogo prefecture.
